April 27 – 28, 2024

Our free diversity outreach events keep growing every year because of an unprecedented international partnership of forward-thinking industry leaders that have put their full support behind this Canadian signature event over the past decade and counting. These industry leaders, including the U.S. Military, annually contribute several billion dollars in hands-on assets to make this diversity outreach event impactful and meaningful to the thousands of participants diverse in age, gender, culture, citizenship, and socio-economic background. Recruiting is just one of the many returns they receive from their collective investment. The smiles last a lifetime.

Countless businesses and individual citizens additionally contribute hundreds of thousands of dollars of the many in-kind equipment, supplies and services needed to offer an event of this scope and magnitude and keep it entirely free for all who attend. Hundreds of dedicated volunteers donate their time and energy to operate our free event – we do not have any budget for paid staff. Without this incredible level of community support, this free event would be impossible for our non-profit foundation to offer.

We urge you to check the wish list below to see if you, or anyone in your network can assist with one or more items and/or combine your resources with others to make up the total of any item.

We recognize community contributions on our website, social media, event program and summary report. Formal financial partnerships with branding benefits are also available. If you'd prefer to make a general donation, either in lieu of or in addition to in-kind support, please visit sheisanything.ca/donate.html, or email us: info@sheisanything.ca and let us know how you'd like to help.
